

ABSTRACT

A modular enclosure system and method for forming an enclosure are disclosed. The enclosure system includes a plurality of interchangeable edge rails constructed to engage a plurality of interchangeable corner connectors. The interchangeable edge rails include a flange constructed to engage and secure a plurality of panel sections to the enclosure thereby quickly and efficiently forming a desired volume enclosure.